The biggest myths about 529 plans

Fiction: A 529 plan can only be used at schools in your home state.

Fact: You can use the assets at any eligible school in the country and abroad—not just in Indiana. That includes 2- and 4-year colleges, graduate schools (including law and medical), vocational/technical schools, and registered apprenticeships.

Fiction: You can only use 529 plans to pay for tuition.

Fact: You can use your account assets for many eligible expenses, including tuition, fees, certain room and board costs, computers and course-related software, supplies, and equipment.

Fiction: It costs a lot to open and maintain an account.

Fact: You can open an Indiana529 Direct Savings Plan account with only $10, or with $10 per paycheck through payroll direct deposit (where available).¹ To help families save more, Indiana529 Direct offers additional programs, like Ugift[®] which allows account owners to invite family and friends to make gift contributions, and Upromise[®], a service that lets account owners earn education savings when they shop online, dine out, and more.²

Fiction: You have to make a lot of investment decisions.

Fact: 529 plans have several investment types to meet your needs. Indiana529 Direct offers both "keep it simple" Year of Enrollment Portfolios in which the portfolio automatically becomes more conservative as the beneficiary gets closer to enrollment, and Individual Portfolios from leading investment managers that let you create your own strategy.

Fiction: It's too late to start a 529 plan.

Fact: It's never too late. Even saving a small amount means less money you'll have to borrow and pay back with interest later. Indiana529 Direct earnings grow tax-deferred, and when you withdraw the money for a qualified expense, it's federally tax-free.³ Indiana taxpayers are also eligible for a state income tax credit of 20% of contributions to an Indiana529 Direct account, up to $1,500 ($750 for married filing separately) per year.⁴

Fiction: Having a 529 will prevent the child from being eligible for financial aid.

Fact: While a 529 plan can affect financial aid eligibility, the impact will be small. Depending on who owns the account, your 529 savings could be counted at a rate of as little as 3% of its value on the Student Aid Index (SAI). Be sure to consult a financial aid professional for your specific situation.

Fiction: A 529 plan is only for kids.

Fact: Are you considering career retraining or an advanced degree? There's no maximum age for a 529 plan. As long as your school is eligible, you can use your 529 plan assets—even if you're not attending full-time.

Fiction: If the child doesn't go to college, you lose your money.

Fact: Unlike other education savings options, a 529 plan account owner controls the account! That means you can change your beneficiary to another eligible "member of the family" (as per plan rules) with no tax penalty.⁵

Fiction: Only a parent can be an account owner.

Fact: Parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles, friends ... almost anyone can be an account owner. You can also open an account for your own education.

Fiction: It's difficult to open up a 529 plan account.

Fact: You can open an Indiana529 Direct account at Indiana529direct.com in as little as 10 minutes.
