

What's your investing style?

Are you an aggressive investor, or someone who's uncomfortable with risk? Is your future grad still in diapers, or closing in on high school graduation? Regardless of your investing temperament or how many years you have left to save, the Indiana529 Direct Savings Plan has an option that may be right for you.

Year of Enrollment Portfolios

These portfolios automatically adjust their mix of stocks and bonds based on your child's expected year of enrollment. So, when your child is young, the portfolios can be more aggressive—balancing a little more risk with the potential for greater returns. As higher education and that first withdrawal approach, the goal shifts from growing savings to conserving it. Indiana529 Direct has 8 Year of Enrollment Portfolios to choose from:

Individual Portfolios

Want to take a more active and consistent approach to 529 investing? Indiana529 Direct offers 8 Individual Portfolios, and investors can choose more than one. Unlike Year of Enrollment Portfolios, these don't become more conservative as your child grows up. Instead, they remain true to a specific investment strategy, until you choose to move to a different portfolio, which can be done up to 2 times per year.

For those looking for lower-risk options where capital preservation is the primary goal, Indiana529 Direct offers two options:

- Savings Portfolio: Seeks to preserve current income with limited volatility. FDIC insured.
- Stable Value Portfolio: Seeks to provide bond-like income without risk to initial investment.
